INTERVENTION.

The Evening Post, alluding to the recent ru mors of French intercention in his afficies,

"We may add that the particulars we ar about to relate have been communicated already

It is asserted by our informant that England refuses to take any part in the proposed intervention. The British government holds that its interference could only embliter the contest but it is said that Lord Palmerston and Earl Russel agreed some time since with M. Persigny that England will guarantee to France that the state of affairs on the European continent shall not he changed while France is occupied with her plans in the United States." With this pledge the Emperor has his hands free.

The French government some time since guaranteed to the cotton man becturers of France who kept their mills running," and thus gave their operatives continued employment, a complete inumenity from loss. We do not, therefore, bear so much of the distress of cotton spinners in that country. But the government has since then been purchasing American cotton wherever it could get it and in large quantities. Its agents bought in one day recently, in Liverpool, eighteen thousand bales. Now, it is asserted that Mr. Slidell has made an agreement with the Emperor to deliver to him, at a stated price low in comparison with the present prices, five hundred thousand bales of cotton. In return for this, the Emperor, it is said promises to recog nize the rebels as an independent government and promises further to force open some one southern port-Mobile Savannah or Charleston and hold it in behalf of and in trust for the rebels, against the government of the United States. The cotton to be delivered to him is to be lodged at this port, within sixty days from the present time.

In corroberation of the assertion that the French Emperor is preparing for some such enterprise, we are assured that the troops which have been carried to Mexico in the past year have almost without exception gone in men.ofwar though it is usual and far less expensive to send men in transport ships, which have more room, and cost less to move. It is we are assured, a fact that in transporting thirty thousand men to Mexico only three unarmed transport verels have been used, all the rest of the name rous fleet necessary to carry such an army consisting of war ships. In connection with this, it will be remarked that, according to the report brought by the Borussia, France is to send thirty thousand more troops to Mexico. It is evident that in this way a large fleet may be sent into the Gulf of Mexico without attracting much attention; and that the French have already a formidable naval force in the Gulf.

. It is known that the members of the rebel aristocacy now resident in France are growing in favor with the members of the French Government, which make known their strong sympathy with the cause of Davis and his confederates, This, too, becomes a significant fact, when "we do not tolerate from them private expressions, or actions which conflict with his public policy. Nor is it uninteresting to know, in this relation, that Napoleons Minister of Marine was recently married to a Miss Pilot of New Orleans, whose family possessions are all in that city and its

The regular army now numbers 40,000 men when all the new regiments are filled there will be nearly 42,000 regulars in the service. Of these nearly 22,000 will be infantry and the remainder artillers and consider etillery and cavalry.

It is understood that extensive preparations—are making in Washington for the 100,000 Greeley Wide Awakes who have waited for the Proclama-tion defore springing to arms. The beef, bisruit and above await them and glory await them.

There is a growing impression at France that no obstacle will be offered to the march of the French troops to Mexico, and though the size of the expedition is enlarging, that there is no idea of an alliance with the South, but of a prolonged occupancy of

The Empress Eugenie sends to Paris every morn ing for one of the most eminent priests of the capitol to come to St. Cloud and exhort her on some religious subject for one or two bours; the Abbe Dugerry of the Mudeline is her favorite. The Empress is growing old fast, approaching that forfield year so fatal to the sex; the last photograph of her shows this very plainly.

FROM THE BATTLEFIELD. New York, 26th.

The Tribunes disputch says Surgeon General Hangmond has returned from the battle field of Antlefain Creek. He thinks the whole number of Union soldiers killed will be within 1200 and judging from a careful inspection of lists of casualties and hospitals he estimates the wounded at about 6000. Maj. Davis Assistant Surgeon Gen. says that he binself caused to be buried $000 dead rebels, left on the field by their comrades. From this conclusion their wounded must have reached fully 10,000. All our wounded are brought away and all our dead buried. Seven standards and 20 to 30,000 stands of small arms fell into our bands.

The Times special save the rebels left about 5000 of their wounded within our lines. Their total loss cannot be much less than 5000 killed and 15,000 wounded, while our loss is probably about 1200 killed 6000 wounded and 800 missing.

The New York Herald has extracts from rebel journals relative to the late battles. The Richmond Enguirer claims the buttle of Antictam as groat robel victory. At was directed by Gen. Lee in person with sixty thousand men in his command. The rebel account makes our force 150, 000. Gen. Jackson commanded the left of the rebel line, Gen. Hill the right and Gen. Longstreet the centre. They admit that our artillery was used with ferrial effect and that upon the whole the battle was the most severe of the entire campaign. Two rebel Generals were killed, Stark of Miss, and Branch of N. C., and six others were

The Petersburg Express makes the significer draission that all hopes of Maryland uniting her destiny with the South must now be banished .-The experiment to rouse her people to follow the fortunes of the rebel army is proclaimed to have been a dead failure and the devoted adherence of the state government, the press, and the majority of the people to the federal government is acknowledged by the Express. The victories at Boones boro and Sharpburg it declares to be unprofitable to the rebel cause.

The same journal advocates as the next move the rebel army the destruction of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and an attack on Pierpoint The robil Generals wounded were:
